PAPER BAG CROWNS

Here's what you'll need:

Paper bag, watercolors/markers/crayons, paint brushes, glue
(Put some glue in a bowl with a brush for kids to use as well) Pom-poms, glitter, sequins, masking tape

Here's how we made them:

1. Cut your paper bag down the side and cut off the bottom. Lay it flat and zig-zag cut all across the top. Use the whole bag, but trim it down before painting. Do this by just placing the crown around the child's head, then adding an extra inch.
2. Next, lay out your watercolors. Paint the crown and let it dry before moving on to the gluing step. I used a hairdryer to dry them quickly.
3. When they are dry, put out the glue and the rest of the supplies and let them add to their heart's content! These crowns should dry overnight, flat. You can place them around their heads with a piece of masking take the next day when they are dry. Oh, but don't forget to shake off the excess glitter!
